Resource Connections to The New Social Studies Curriculum 9

Rationale

Alberta Education has identified basic resources for use with each grade level in the new Social Studies Program of Studies. They continue to encourage teachers to integrate literature and supplementary resources to create a rich, deep and engaging curriculum.

The purpose of this document is to:

- ❖ Provide a number of exemplary literature-based resources that best support the Social Studies outcomes.
- ❖ Assist school staff in making informed decisions regarding literature resources connected to the new Social Studies curriculum outcomes.
- ❖ Guide and build capacity for educators to continue to identify quality literature through the lens of the Social Studies criteria.
- ❖ Assist educators with identifying keywords and concepts of the Social Studies Program of Studies.

This document is not intended to be a comprehensive list, but rather a listing of some of the types of books that best meet the criteria as outlined below.

We have attempted to include a variety of titles. We have chosen new literature but have also included some resources that already reside in many school libraries, some of which may now be out of print.

The criteria used in selecting the materials include:

- 1) Evaluation and Selection Criteria for Learning Resources, Calgary Board of Education, March 1998. (available for purchase from the Calgary Board of Education, Media Services);
- 2) Social Studies Program of Studies Skills and Outcomes alignment, Social Studies K-12, Program of Studies September 2005, Alberta Education (template included);
- 3) Aboriginal consultation and verification, Curriculum Support Services, Calgary Board of Education;
- 4) Francophone consultation and verification, Curriculum Support Services, Calgary Board of Education.

These people contributed to the writing of this document:

Andrea Cartwright, Social Studies Consultant, Curriculum Support Services,
Calgary Board of Education;
Jennifer Delvecchio, Educational Consultant: Collection Development;
Cathy Yusep, Teacher-Librarian Specialist, Professional Learning Centre, Calgary
Board of Education.;
Jacqueline Vincent, Learning Leader, Calgary Board of Education

Thanks to all of the Calgary Board of Education teacher-librarians and teachers who have provided their time and on-going guidance and support in the reviewing of these resources.

Availability:

Prices have been included in this document to assist with selection decisions.
However, these prices may vary over time and depending on the source.
Resources are available for purchase from many booksellers such as United Library Services, throughout the province of Alberta.

Canadian Author

Alma, Ann. (1993) Skateway to freedom.
Toronto, ON : Dundurn Group. $11.99 ISBN 9781550027198

Eleven year old Josie Grun escapes from East Germany with her family in 1989, when her father feels their lives are at risk from the Communist Party's Secret Police. They steal away into the night to cross the Hungarian border and Josie must leave her home, her grandmother, her best friend and her figure skates behind. After flying across the Atlantic and bussing across Canada, they arrive to stay with Uncle Fritz and Aunt Beth in Calgary. Josie has become a 'refugee' and she must deal with learning a new language, starting at a new school, and learning about the Canadian way of life. It is not easy, and at first, Josie longs for her German home. Gradually, she learns English and when she begins to skate again, she finds friendship and happiness. Realistic story of the immigrant experience. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Previewed by Hillhurst Elementary.

Outcomes: 9.1.3 ; 9.1.8

Beehag, Graham. (2007) Fishing.
Calgary, AB: Weigl Educational Publishers. $26.95
ISBN: 9781553882268

Series: Canadian Industries

This book examines the fishing industry in Canada from its beginnings in the late 1800s, its impact on Canada and the world, to its long-term potential. Maps, graphs, and timelines are interspersed with informative text to provide a clear understanding of the industry's role in the lives of Canadians. Career options and profiles of people working in the industry are also included. There is a table of contents, glossary and index. 9.2:

Bortolotti, Dan. (2004) Hope in hell : inside the world of Doctors Without Borders.
Richmond Hill, Ont. : Firefly Books, 2004. $19.95 ISBN: 9781554071425

This book features information about the international service organization "Doctors Without Borders" or the "Medecins Sans Frontieres". The text traces the roots of this humanitarian group through a series of interviews and personal accounts with the physicians and organizers. A fascinating read about how medical personnel from "have" countries donate their personal time and efforts to relieve the suffering of others. Also notable is the story of how savvy promoters and celebrities have used their status, glamour and business acumen to promote the goals of the organization. The graphic descriptions of medical needs and treatment are not for everyone. Some profanities throughout when describing experiences. Good information for Social Studies Grade 9, Economic Systems. 9.2: Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States. Previewed by Chinook Learning Services and John Ware Junior High.

Outcomes: 9.2.1 ; 9.2.3 ; 9.2.5

Burtinshaw, Julie. (2005) Freedom of Jenny.  Vancouver, BC : Raincoast Books $12.95 ISBN 9781551928395

Born into slavery in the state of Missouri in the 1840s, Jenny Estes believes in her father's dream of freedom. As she works in the plantation kitchen, Jenny tries to give her mistress no cause to sell her to a slave-trader. Remarkably, she is learning to read, a skill that will be of critical importance to her family's survival as they trek from the Deep South to California, then to Saltspring Island on Canada's west coast. Their ordeal includes disease, privation, loss of family members and the struggles of homesteading. Based on a true story, this coming-of-age tale demonstrates the spirit and courage needed to build a new life in a new land. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. The Buy-me generation* [DVD]. (2006)
Chicago, Ill. : New Dimension. $49.00 ISBN: 9781595223173

1 videodisc (DVD) (20 min.) : sd., col. ; 4 3/4 in. + teacher's guide.
Series: Character In Development Series

Video provides American examples of consumerism and consumption. Termed Affluenza: when young people define success in dollars, footage aptly portrays superficial yearnings contrasted by lessons of the difference between need versus want. Case studies highlight issues of homelessness ; value of money ; spending beyond means ; popularity with an emphasis on understanding the value of money. Video is suited for Careers-Guidance purposes but can also initiate conversation about North American consumption and consumerism. 9.2: Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States. Campbell, Nicola I. (2005) Shi-shi-etko.  Toronto: Groundwood Books. $16.95 ISBN 9780888996596

Picture Book

This is a poignant and thoughtful, picture book presentation of the "special days" in a young native girl's life before she leaves for residential school. Simple and beautiful artwork depicts the autumn colours as her family shares the teachings of her heritage, to carry with her as memories to her new life. The author shows the richness of the culture, and the point of view of those who were separated from their communities by outsiders who had no knowledge of or value for their culture. This will be useful in studies of European contact, and of aboriginal life. A foreword by the author tells briefly of the loss suffered by not only Canadian aboriginals by this treatment, but of Aboriginals of other parts of the world. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Previewed by Cecil Swanson Elementary.

Outcomes: 9.1.2 ; 9.1.7 ; 9.1.8

Cherry, Lynne. (1992) River ran wild, A.
San Diego, CA : Harcourt Brace and Company. $19.95

This book is an environmental history of the Nashua River in Massachusetts, U.S.A. It chronicles the river from its discovery by Aborigines (called Indians in the book), through the arrival of fur traders, settlers, the Industrial Revolution, and on to the present day.

The book describes the river as clean and free at first, then gradually polluted and dying, until an Aboriginal descendant and a local woman work to have laws passed that stop the dumping of wastes into the river. Slowly, the river is cleaned up. Although the book is based on an American river, the story could take place on any river. Lovely two page spreads illustrate realistic water colour scenes of the river. Beautifully drawn or painted borders full of related scenes, objects, or animals. 9.2: Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States.

Previewed by Mountain View Elementary.

Outcomes: 9.2.2 ; 9.2.6

Keywords: Aboriginal ; First Nations ; Advocacy ; Environmental ; Preservation

Cooper, Adrian. (2006) Fair trade? : a look at the way the world is today.

North Mankato, MN. : Stargazer Books. $26.35
ISBN: 9781596040724

Series: Issues of the World

This series, written in concise and accessible language, is designed to increase awareness and basic understanding of critical current affairs and how they are affecting North America and all parts of the world. "Fair Trade" looks at why it is important, the global supermarket, clothes, gems, arms, medicine, drugs, money, trade disputes, trade wars and global corporations. Has detailed table of contents, chronology, a list of organizations, glossary and an index. 9.2: Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States. Previewed by Centennial High.

Cooper, John. (2005) Season of rage : Hugh Burnett and the struggle for civil rights.
Toronto : Tundra $14.99 ISBN 9780887767005

The author very aptly outlines the history of the civil rights of Black Canadians through a single story—the story of Hugh Burnett and the small Ontario town of Dresden in the 1950s. Through a timeline and notes, the book quickly outlines the history of slavery in North America and provides background for the story to follow. The town has roots to the underground railway and as such many settlers found their way over the years. The rest of the book details the unequal treatment that occurred in the town and leading to the formation of the National Unity Association after Hugh Burnett's letter to the Canadian government was ignored. The author is honest and clear about the injustice and inequality that has existed for Black Canadians—even up to 50 years ago. In addition to detailing this important part of Canadian history, the message is also that one person can make a difference. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Previewed by (SSS) Evaluation / Selection.

Outcomes: 9.1.3 ; 9.1.8

 Toronto : CTV, $ 99.95

DVD / Videorecording
Series Title: (W5)

Describes the point system, how immigrants qualify. Highly qualified immigrants are arriving but their credentials are not recognized, their English is not good enough and their experience not accepted. Many immigrants are taking any job they can get, so instead of moving ahead, they are immobilized, underappreciated and underemployed. Clearly the points system does not coincide with the country's need for immigrants. Usual narration and interviews of disappointed immigrants, immigration lawyers, and the Minister of Immigration. Examines a website "Nocanada.com" which warns prospective immigrants of lack of opportunities in Canada. Previewed by (ESS) Evaluation/Selection.

Government in Canada : citizenship in action. (1991)

Montreal, Quebec : National Film Board. $169.00

Series: Citizenship in Action

Videorecording: 4 videocassettes (VHS), 3 booklets, 2 posters, guide, pamphlets

This four-part series was produced by the National Film Board in 1991 and is available in both DVD and video format. It is an ideal introduction to democracy and the functioning of federal, provincial and local governments, the election process and the rights and responsibilities of citizens. The content is presented in a student friendly manner using video clips, photographs, cartoons newspaper articles and archival footage. Continuity is reflected throughout the series and important facts are reinforced not only with repetition but also with excellent images and comparisons. The series includes multiple perspectives that will foster understanding of the roles and contributions of linguistic, cultural and ethnic groups in Canada. The underlying message throughout the series is that everyone can have an impact on the way our country is run. The titles are: Part 1: Democracy at Work – It's Your Choice: The democratic process of Canada, enables everyone to participate. Participation takes many forms, - supporting a political party or candidate, voting in an election, speaking out, finding out what others think, or actually running for office; Part 2: Our Constitution – The Law of the Land: The Constitution Act (British North American Act), has evolved through the changing needs of the country. Students are led through a set of rules used in Canada's political process; Part 3: Our National Parliament – The Inside Story: The third video introduces students to the role of the Prime Minister and his/her party, the Cabinet and the opposition parties. A new bill is followed from its initial preparation to an attempt to create a new law; Part 4 : Local and Provincial Governments – Working Together; The final video looks at how the federal, provincial and municipal governments work together and how they handle funding and issues crossing jurisdictional boundaries. The video also features a case study, showing how individuals can influence local government. Excellent fit with 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Greenwood, Barbara. (2007) Factory Girl.  Toronto: Kids Can Press. $16.95 ISBN: 9781553376491

A compelling book in the style of a photo-journal blends the horrific facts of child labor during the early twentieth century with the imaginary story of one underage factory girl. "At 12, Emily is two years under the legal working age, but to help her desperate family, she takes a job in a sweatshop, where she suffers under horrific working conditions. At first she is scared to protest, but public pressure to improve conditions builds, thanks to union activists, social reformers (including Jane Addams), and journalists" -

Booklist. The book includes numerous photos that are unforgettable and well captioned, the story is interesting and has a valuable historical perspective, however, documentation is not evident and would be an asset. Includes a table of contents, timeline, glossary and index. Previewed by Centennial High.

Paperny, Myra. (2005) The greenies.
Toronto: Harper Trophy Canada. $7.99 ISBN: 9780006393566

This is an excellent story about the lives of some of the thousands of orphaned Jewish children who immigrated with the help of the Canadian Jewish Congress to Canada after World War II. It describes very well the struggles of some of the orphans as they deal with their memories, lost families, and the reality of post war Europe and their journey to Canada. Danny and Lilli are the 'Greenies' who are trying to make a new life in Vancouver with their foster families while Marilyn is the Canadian teen who tries to help. The story is well written and very accurately describes life in Canada in the late 1940s. The story moves back and forth to the different characters that some readers might find confusing but because the stories are so intertwined there should be little difficulty. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Schwartz, Vignia Frances. (2001) If I just had two wings.
Markham, ON : Fitzhenry & Whiteside. $12.95 ISBN 9780773761926

Thirteen-year-old Phoebe, born a slave on an Alabama cotton plantation, has a powerful dream--a dream about flying to "the freedom place." Despite her parents' objections, she befriends Liney, 19, the courageous, strong "troublemaker" who is determined to flee with her two children to Canada. With Phoebe's help they start their journey to "the freedom place" with the help of codes through songs and the help of strangers along the Underground Railroad. A map in the front allows readers to follow the route taken by Phoebe and her friends. This book is well researched and historically accurate. It can be used for addressing issues of freedom, human rights, racism and the characters can be used as wonderful role models for our kids--strong, empowered young women and a young man who protects and sacrifices himself for the safety of the group. This novel helps student understand the rights and freedoms we have as Canadians from a historical perspective.

Shoveller, Herb. (2006) Ryan and Jimmy : and the well in Africa that brought them together.

Toronto : Kids Can Press. $18.95 ISBN: 9781553379676

This remarkable story tells how Ryan Hreljac at age six decided to earn enough money to build a well in Africa after hearing about the problems of acquiring clean drinking water. As he earned money at home, word spread through his community in Ontario and people started donating money to the cause. In the summer of 2000, Ryan, nine, travelled with his parents to a small village in Uganda to help open the well that was built with the money he raised. The trip was also significant because Ryan met Jimmy, a young Ugandan boy, who was Ryan's pen pal since the boys had been paired through their respective schools. This is a very emotionally packed story, and will evoke much discussion at all age levels. It fits perfectly with global connections at all levels of the Social Studies curriculum and in particular with those studying Canada. Previewed by Cappy Smart Elementary.

Sís, Peter. (2007) The wall : growing up behind the Iron Curtain.

New York : Farrar, Straus and Giroux. $19.95 ISBN: 9780374347017

Graphic Works

An "almost graphic" picture book in which the author places his life growing up in Czechoslovakia during the Cold War alongside a chronology of events during the Communist regime, until the fall of the Berlin Wall. Excerpts from his journals give a personalized account and greater depth to our understanding of that time. Provides an understanding of what it would be like to live under a harsh totalitarian regime. Speaks to the importance of self-expression, hope and believing in yourself and your dreams. The fascinating, small scale, detailed and slightly quirky, mainly black and white illustrations, admirably illustrate the character of the times and invite considerable discussion. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Markham, ON : Scholastic Canada Ltd. $14.99 ISBN: 9780439956925

Series: Dear Canada

Anya, the young character travels with her family from the Ukraine and meets her father in Montréal. The book begins by highlighting the anticipation and stresses of immigrating to a new country and then details how these stresses are realized with Anya's rough reception. When World War I breaks out the social climate for Ukrainian Canadians becomes tense and dangerous which leads to many being sent to an internment camp. Students will be sobered and enlightened about this, not often, documented time in history. There are not many books that describe the treatment of Ukrainians in Canada, this one is sensitively done through the eyes of a young girl and detailed historical fiction. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Swope, Sam. (1989) Araboolies of Liberty Street.
New York: Farrar, Straus Giroux. $8.00 ISBN: 9780374303907

Picture Book

The neighborhood bully, General Pinch, successfully squelches any attempts at joy making on Liberty Street until the Araboolies arrive. The amusing plot that focuses on conformity soon becomes a message of freedom, individualism and appreciation of diversity. The full colour paintings enhance the story line, and the text is easy to read and humorous. Although an elementary picture book, the story content supports the Grade nine social Studies program and will generate discussion on protecting individual and collective rights and freedoms. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Takashima, Shizuye. (1980, 1971) A child in prison camp.
Montréal : Tundra Books. $11.99 ISBN: 9780887762413

In 1941, when Shizuye (Shichan) was eleven-years-old, she and thousands of other Japanese-Canadians were forced from their homes and sent to live in internment camps in the Canadian Rockies. None of them had been convicted of any crime, but the country was at war with Japan, so they were considered enemies of the country. In this true story of sadness and joy, Shichan uses simple text and striking watercolours to recall her life in the days leading up to her family's forced movement to the camp and her feelings as the war drags on. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights.

Tan, Shaun. (2006) The arrival.
New York : Arthur A. Levine Books. $24.99 ISBN: 9780439895293

Graphic Novel

This wordless, beautifully presented graphic novel tells of a lone immigrant leaving his family and journeying to a fantastical new world. Arranged in six sections of sepia-like colour and aged-looking design, the new immigrant arrives in a country that is bizarre and awesome. There is a struggle for livelihood, but there are also some friendly people willing to give a helping hand. Although the fantastic elements are everywhere, one comes to realize that this confusion might well be like the actual experience of any new arrival. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Tarantino, Bob. (2007) Under arrest : Canadian laws you won't believe. Toronto : Dundurn Press. $24.99 ISBN: 9781550027037

This title informs readers of some of the more obscure and sometimes long forgotten Canadian laws. Examples of some of the laws discussed in the book include that it is illegal to sell a comic book that depicts the commission of a crime and that sleepwalking can be a defence to murder. Case studies are shared in the dense text. This book would be used more as a reference tool than as a cover to cover read. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Wallace, Ian. (2000) Duncan's way.

Toronto : Douglas & McIntyre. $18.95 ISBN: 9780888993885

Picture Book

The story is about a Newfoundland family who struggles with the loss of the cod fisheries. Duncan's father spends his days watching television and baking breads and pies. Many fisherman have left in search of work. After discussing the problem with his friend, Mr. Marshall, Duncan realizes that there is another solution nobody has thought of. There is a way to combine his father's baking skills with his experience as a ship's skipper. The soft watercolour pictures portray a unique Canadian community. There is an important message regarding Canadian issues on regionalism, effects of political policies on industries and families. 9.2: Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States. Walters, Eric. (2000) Caged eagles.
 Victoria, B.C. : Orca Book Publishers. $10.95 ISBN: 9781551431390

Sequel to: War of the eagles.

"Caged Eagles" tells the story of how Tadashi, the main character, and his Japanese family, cope with being put into detention camps during World War II.

Through Tadashi's experiences, the reader comes to understand the personal consequences of those who were detained. The story reads well and is given impact by the fact that Tadashi seems so much like any other boy, making injustice clear and putting the reader in Tadashi's shoes. The author appears to have done a lot of research. The book is suspenseful and highly readable. 9.1: Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights. Previewed by Western Canada High.
